BIG CROWD AT CURLING CLUB'S NEW YEAR DANCE

The New Year's dance put on by the Sexsmith Curling Club on Friday evening, December 21, was well patronized and from appearances all were enjoying themselves.

This is the one dance of the year that people like to attend. It is a case of "backyard" turn backward. There is no "flirt" make me a child again just for tonight. And then just that thing. Just all good clean fun.

At midnight the orchestra played "Auld Lang Syne" and all joined hands and sang. Favors were then given out, and waffles, hors d'oeuvres and punch were served. Supper was then served, and dancing was resumed until the early hours in the morning. Kismet Orchestra provided the music.

The Glee-Chorus Union was there in full force, and working overtime. Did you ever realize, girls, how much more attractive you look when your jaws are kept keeping in time with the music—ah, besides, it gives you the floor.

HANDS OUT THE CIGARS

We met Jim McNaughton on the street on New Year's morning, he had a broad smile on his face and was handing out cigars. Or asking him if this was on account of it being the first day of 1930, he stated that the reason for this largesse was owing to the fact that a young boy had been born at his house that morning. No one but Jim, the credulous look on our face, he after a time went on to explain that owing to the guardianship of the local material hospital, that Mrs. Jim had taken on one of the cases, and that was the result. We still cannot see why he looked so cheery about it.

TOWN GOES HOCKEY CONSCIOUS

Fred McNaughton has undertaken to train the Sexsmith hockey team of age and under. They have had several practices so far. The team is shaping up O.K. What they lack in size is made up by enthusiasm. Sexsmith has good hockey players, and the next team to be organized will be a girls' team, called the Sexsmith Girls' Hockey Club. This is for girls six years and under. We have heard that Frank Pettie has kindly undertaken to put them through their paces.

Besides supplying her own needs of upwards of 1,000,000 Christmas trees, Canada exports more than three times that amount every year to the United States. Five years ago the number of Christmas trees exported from Canada to the United States was 1,200,000. Last year the figure was 2,500,000. The demand has shown no tendency to slacken and it is expected that in 1930 the demand will be even more duplicated. In 1929 the value of Christmas trees exported from Canada was $24,135. In 1930 more than $50,000,000 worth of Christmas trees were shipped to the United States. Clara Jerstad was awarded second prize. Her entry was a hand-painted Christmas card, which she sold for $1.00. The prize was awarded to her by the girls to their auctioneer, Carl Hanson, in gratitude for his efforts toward making the event a financial success.

The third prize was won by Olive Fimrit, who entered a small fruit cake, on which was written "Helping Hands Anniversary, 10 Years, 1927-37." This sold for a surprising amount, as did all the other entries of the girls, and together they netted a good sum, as did the sale of tickets.

The concert then got underway, the president of the past year, Olive Fimrit, presiding. The program was a fine one, and the girls sang "The Christmas Song" and "The Herald Angels Sing."

Second was a recitation by Evelyn Krantz, entitled "The Last Hymn." She was accompanied at the piano by Clara Jerstad, who also sang during the recital.

Third number was a Norwegian solo by Anna Lind.

The chairman in presenting the next number, which was a duet by Mabel Evelyn and Ruth Vickie, remarked that these young girls of tonight would be the Helping Hands of tomorrow.

The next number was a duet by Clara Jerstad and Carl Hanson, followed by a musical recitation by Olive Fimrit, and then a duet by Elenor and Dolores Melnes.

The highlight of the concert was a drill in which the girls, who appeared floating, swaying, each a different color, and in a graceful manner, concluded the concert, after which the goods were sold, and finally lunch served.

The girls wish to express thanks to the C.C.C. for the generous aid in advertising the event; to the C.C.C. for the loan of the hall; and to Mrs. Vickie, the pianist of the evening.

OUTLOOK SERVICE
AID TO FARMERS

Many persons believe that the acreage needed to the various crops on Canadian farms, and the output of livestock in any year, are things that just happen. However, individual farmers know that in order to balance their food supply with the numbers of live stock, plants must be made in advance. In addition, plans must also be made to provide some definite sources of ready cash to meet taxes, mortgage payments, living costs and profits.

In arriving at their decisions, Canadian farmers in the past have been guided by written and verbal information in an attempt to outline a program which would give them a satisfactory return for their year's effort and they have had to safeguard themselves as much as possible against unfavorable weather conditions and other crop reducing factors. In the past such information has been scattered and difficult to bring together and analyze. However, the Dominion Department of Agriculture and Commerce believe they have introduced a publication which will assist farmers in studying their possibilities in making their plans.

This publication is "The Agricultural Situation and Outlook" now available on request to the Publicity and Extension Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture and Commerce. It is the fifth annual publication of this bulletin which has been receiving more and more interest from farmers and agricultural workers.

Currently, the current features of domestic and international demand are being studied, and the latest reports are made on each of the major agricultural commodities. If a farmer is interested particularly in beef cattle, he will be encouraged to find in the Outlook that the cycle of beef production and total supplies are expected to decline for three or four years. This should mean relatively higher prices for beef cattle.

The Outlook also contains a fairly large volume of Canadian beef cattle and sheep statistics, and is encouraging. In a similar manner, the important facts of the various farm enterprises are brought together in a readable and informative manner.

WOOLWORTH HEIRESS MAY AVOID $30,000,000 TAX

Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, erected a barrier to the collection of estate taxes by the United States on her $65,000,000 share of the Woolworth fortune by renouncing her American citizenship. She thus becomes a Dane, the nationality of her husband, and tax experts state that the United States cannot take two-thirds of the Countess's estate when it passes to her two-year-old son, Lance, born in London, and declared a Dane by his father. Above are pictures of the Count and Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, while at the top is the imposing Scherhorn estate in San Jose, California, which the Countess wanted to purchase.

KEY DEFENSE UNIT IN THE PACIFIC

The establishment of a strong United States air squadron at Sitka, Alaska, has focused international attention on the strategic position which Alaska occupies. Strong Japanese interest against United States naval activity along the northwest peninsula, coupled with friction between American fishermen and the Japanese Pacific fleet, give added significance to the entire Alaskan question. Six patrol bombers and 70 men have been placed at Sitka with instructions to survey the fog-bound coast. These pictures show, top, a view of Sitka; center, the bombing planes; and bottom, a map of Alaska, showing its proximity to Canada, the United States, and the far East.

It didn't matter whether Tommy Atkins and Jack Tar were stationed on the northwest frontier of India, China or Gibraltar, they got all the fixings. Above is one Jack Tar who saw it that he and his mates did not miss the pudding.

F. T. BREWER TAKES

ISSUE WITH DECISION

In a communication to The Tribune, Mr. F. T. Brewer writes:

"I notice that in publishing election results you do not state the reason for my change in the decision in Sub-division No. 5. This was due to irregularities in the vote. I was told that the vote was not valid, and I was held open for three and one-quarter hours, instead of two hours, as specifically stated in the Act.

"According to the returns, this poll was opened at one fifteen instead of two o'clock, and closed at four o'clock instead of four o'clock. Mr. Sharp naturally disapproved this poll, as most anybody would have done under the circumstances, and advised the department of his view of his vote. In the meantime he declared me elected, both over the air and by letter.

"The following day Mr. Sharp informed me that he received a wire from the department stating that he did not have the authority to do this, and that the vote in this poll would have to be counted.

"I cannot see the fairness of this decision and have not saluted with anybody who can. I think it only fair that the public should know the particulars."
